NEWPORT WELCOMES SOCIAL THROUGH EARLY THIS SEASON

Inside the Casino grounds.

At Southampton, Too, Cottages Are Renting Early, and Clubs and Hotels Are Looking for an Unusually Lively Season

NEWPORT, R. I., June 17.—If the members of the summer colony continue to arrive here at the present rate the summer season will be in full swing much earlier than ever before. It is a fact that an early season was predicted as far back as last winter, when cottage rentals began to be made, although it was not expected that it would open quite as early as it has.

There are already settled in their summer homes a large percentage of the summer residents, some of them people who in the past have been among the arrivals much later in the season. Therefore, Bellevue avenue, ocean avenue, Ochre point and other sections of the colony have taken on a summery appearance.

The demand for houses has been large and there are few places now left available for rental. This can be seen from the fact that over 100 houses on the rental list have been taken.

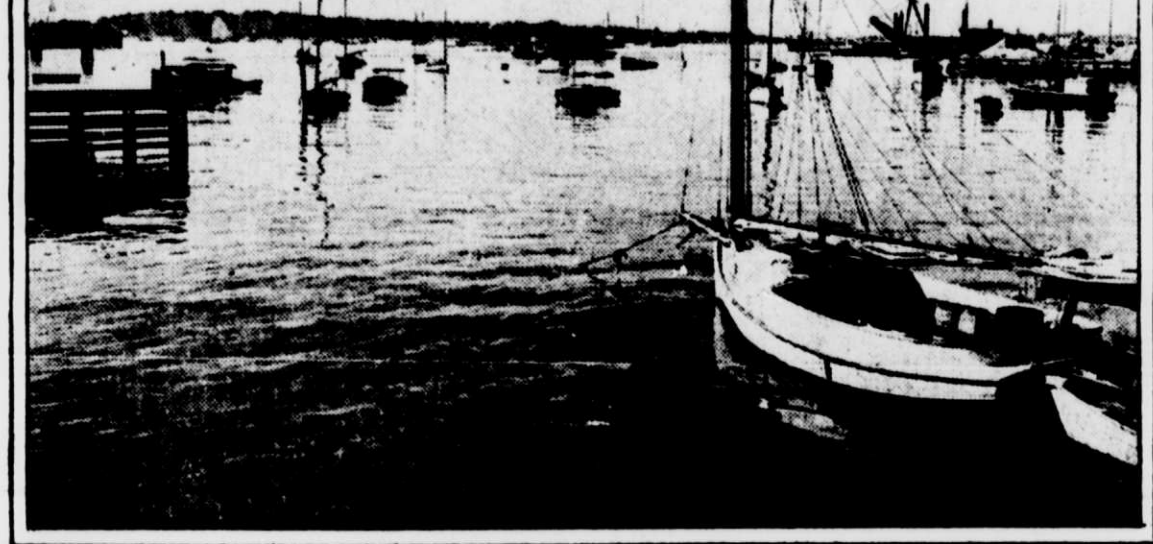

Looking south and span after their spring renovation, the Newport Casino, the Newport Golf Club and Bailey's Beach, where the bathing season has started for the more hardy members of the colony who are not afraid of the cold water. At the beach the governors have added a new section of bathhouses to meet the demand for accommodations, which last season was greater than the supply despite the fact that a new section was erected at that time. Improvements have also been made at the Casino and at the Golf Club.

A large amount of alteration and repair work has been done on the cottages. Several of the houses have been practically rebuilt. The most important changes have been in the houses of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Lottrop Ames of Boston and Mr. and Mrs. J. Norman de B. Whitelouse, which they purchased last fall. Both places will be ready for occupancy before a great while.

The purchase of Belmont by Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont means their return to the ranks of the permanent summer residents here. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney are others among the former summer residents who will again be at Newport this summer. It is a long while since Mr. and Mrs. Whitney have occupied their Bellevue avenue estate, but they are coming back this year, and in preparation for their coming they have had a large addition made to their residence. This addition, which includes a large ballroom, is larger than the original house. It has been in the course of construction since late in the winter and will be ready for occupancy probably within a month. One of the chief entertainments of the summer season is expected to take place in the ballroom, the coming out party of Mr. and Mrs. Whitney's daughter.

Another new ballroom for the summer residents to dance in this summer is at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Embroke Jones. The work on it was started late last fall, after Mr. and Mrs. Jones had left Sherwood, and it is now ready for use. It is a beautiful room, erected as a southern "L" to the residence, and architecturally in keeping with the remainder of the old Colonial residence, formerly the Havemeyer estate.

Among the early season arrivals are the diplomatic section of the summer guests, including Ambassador and Mrs. Bakhmetoff of Russia, who have again taken James Gordon Bennett's estate on Bellevue avenue for the summer headquarters of the Russian Embassy, and Ambassador and Mrs. Riano of Spain, who are occupying the Wald cottage on Bellevue avenue this summer. Though the British Embassy will not have its headquarters here this year, some of the attaches of Great Britain's embassy have taken cottages here, including Col. Murrrough O'Brien, the military attaché, who has already arrived.

Newport Harbor, where the yachts will soon gather. Above—Soon the water will be warm enough to call the bathers to this exclusive beach.

SOUTHAMPTON.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., June 17.—SOUTHAMPTON is planning for one of the busiest seasons it has ever known. All the cottages are rented, which is unusual at this early date, and the clubs and hotels are booked for the season.

The principal attraction among out of door sports will be golf. The links at both the Shinnecock and the National golf clubs never were in better condition. The National, which is sometimes spoken of as the "Millionaire's Golf Course," will open to the men, while at the Shinnecock Club afternoon teas will be very popular this summer, and so will the weekly Saturday night dances.

The Southampton Club, for men only, opened for the season on Memorial Day, and the Meadow Club, which is practically open to the year round, was officially opened for the season on June 1. The Meadow Club's tennis courts are famous the country over and this year are in better condition than ever for the annual invitation tournament to be held here in August.

Surf bathing is growing more in popularity every year, especially with the younger people. For those who prefer the still water bathing a pavilion has recently been erected on the shore of Peconic Bay, which will be more exclusive than the public bathing beach.

The Suffolk Hunt Club, famous for its afternoon teas and Friday night dances given under the direction of Miss Julianna Cutting, will be greatly missed this summer. The property was recently bought by Thomas B. Clarke, who is remodeling the present building for a summer home. This coming fall it is the intention of the Hunt Club to have the dog hunts following the custom of many years past.

Services at St. Andrew's by the Sea began last Sunday and will continue throughout the summer months.

There will be many newcomers here this year and there is every indication that there will be more activity in the social life of the cottage colony than usual. Among the new families to arrive are Mr. and Mrs. Willard D. Straight, who have taken Charles Godfrey's Nighthawk Cottage. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Byers have leased Henry G. Trevor's Meadowmere and Patrick Murphy will occupy James L. Breeze's Little Orchards. Mrs. Stewart D. Preston, who is a sister of Mrs. Lyttleton Fox, has taken a cottage on the Shinnecock Hills. Mrs. Le Grand C. Griswold and children will spend the summer with Mrs. Chester Griswold at the Bell Cottage. Mrs. Henry C. Phillips will be at the Overlook Cottage and Mrs. P. A. Valentine with her son and daughter-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Armour, will occupy Mrs. De Lancey Nicoll's house on Lake Agawam.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Parkman Shaw of Boston and Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Vance of Fredericksburg, Va., are at the Irving for the season. Dr. and Mrs. P. F. Flower Chambers, who have been away from Southampton the past two seasons, arrived to-day at their cottage on First Neck Lane. Other arrivals for the season who will occupy their cottages are Mr. and Mrs. George C. Clark, Dr. and Mrs. George A. Dixon, Mrs. H. A. Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund C. Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. Newbold Edgar, Mrs. Peter B. Wyckoff, Mr. and Mrs. J. Metcalf Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Goodhue Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Snow, Mrs. Josephine Russell and Mrs. Edward Van Ingen.

NARRAGANSETT PIER.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, June 17.—Bathed in sunshine and swept by ocean breezes Narragansett is looking her loveliest just now. Since last season many improvements have been made. The new post office is completed and occupied. Tiled and brick sidewalks now extend for the full length of Ocean road on both sides of the street from the Casino to Green's Inn, almost a mile stretch.

Another improvement is the remodeling of the picturesque old casino arch over Ocean road. The west wing of the arch will have an interior designed for private luncheon, dinner and bridge parties with service from the Casino close by. The Casino will open on July 1.

The Point Judith Country Club is already open and is the resort just now for the members of the cottage colony who have already arrived at the Pier. Out of door life at the country club promises to be exceedingly gay during the season with notable tennis and golf tournaments and the round of luncheons, dinners, teas, &c., which are a part of each day's calendar.

Polo enthusiasts will welcome the announcement that the Pier is to have an unusually interesting polo tournament, which will be the first of the season. The polo season opens at the Point Judith Polo Club on July 17 and continues for nearly a month.

The Imperial and Massasoit hotels are already open and by the end of another week all the hotels will open their doors for the season. The Mathewson will open on June 24, under the management of S. W. Mathewson. Among the guests who will arrive on the opening day for the season will be Mrs. J. J. Lawrence of New York, who has spent twenty summers at this hotel. She will be accompanied by her granddaughter, Miss Josephine Lawrence Hopkins.

The Imperial Hotel, Walter A. Nye, owner and proprietor, opened for the season on Wednesday. Among the New Yorkers who will pass part of the season here are Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Tower, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Richards and family, Edward Manlove and family and Mrs. Edgar B. Ward and family.

Dr. and Mrs. S. O. Ritchey of Washington, who have spent many seasons at the Atlantic House, are to be members of Narragansett's villa colony, having rented a house on Central street, Greenville Vernon of New York has rented a house at Saunderson, near the Pier.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Grant La Farge of New York are at their villa at Saunderson for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bond Lambert and family of St. Louis have arrived at the Pier for the season and are occupying Sagamore, owned by Mrs. John H. Hanan. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Chew of Philadelphia are to be among the cottagers at the Pier this season. Mrs. John R. Poor of Washington, D. C., has arrived at her villa on the rocks.

The Rev. and Mrs. Philip M. Prescott and family of Washington are at their villa, Prestate, on Central street, for the season. The Rev. H. D. Waller and family of Flushing, L. I., are to spend the season at the Pier, having rented Stone Crest, on Boston Neck road. Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Kohn and family, who have spent several seasons at the Imperial Hotel, will be among the members of the villa colony, having rented "Pony-cood," on Central street.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry de Coppel and the Misses de Coppel of New York have arrived at their cottage on Mathewson street for the season. Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hanan have rented their villa, Shore Acres, on the rocks, to Frank Mackey of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Hanan are to spend the summer at Castlewood, Newport, recently purchased by them.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Norris and their daughter, Mrs. Lisa Norris, of Philadelphia, are occupying the villa, By the Sea, on Ocean road, for the season. W. Fraser Harrison of Philadelphia is at the Anchorage, on the rocks, for the season with his family. Mr. and Mrs. David S. Baker and children of Greenwich, Conn., are occupying one of the Kantara Green cottages at the Pier and have with them Mrs. Baker's father, Ashton Harvey of New York.

Mrs. William Sprague, widow of the late Governor of Rhode Island, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wenceslaw Borda, at her villa on Ocean road. Mrs. Borda's daughter, Mrs. Inez Sprague Stimes, and her little daughter, Alyce Stimes, who recently returned from Paris, are also at the villa of Mrs. Borda for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. L. Goddard of Providence, R. I., and Mrs. Goddard's sister-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Rush Sturges, have rented villa on Ocean road.

SOUTHERN NEW ENGLAND.

The resorts of southern New England are seen in their most attractive guise just now, and city people who are seeking places in which to spend summer holidays are responding to their appeal in great numbers.

Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island offer such diverse attractions that there is hardly any vacation taste or preference that cannot be satisfied. Such sharp contrasts are found within such small compass that the visitor experiences all the benefits which elsewhere could be obtained only by traveling long distances. The advantages of vacation or of peaceful inland country-side are to be enjoyed within easy reach of the sea and its abundant opportunities for sport.

The hundreds of miles of southern New England seacoast are famous for their diversity. Some of the finest sand beaches in the entire vacation world are found interspersed with ledgy and indented shores that offer excellent shelter to fleets of small sailing craft and motor boats. A feature of this coast is the number and character of the islands which lie off shore, each a complete vacation world in itself, and each visited in summer by an enthusiastic throng of vacation people. A number of great rivers empty here into the water, their estuaries greatly diversifying the scenery and adding to the facilities for vacation enjoyment.

From the waterside residence sections of Westchester county to the nearby Connecticut shore to Narragansett Bay and its distinctive vacation communities the north shore of Long Island Sound offers the city dwellers of New York, the North Atlantic seaboard
